The Black Band -- I'm sick of putting this band on my badge, Of seeing another brother fall. Of seeing another sister laid out Upon an altar before us all.

*Of seeing another family sit, While they receive a folded flag.
And know of the crushing loss they feel,
As you can see their shoulders sag.*

*Then I remember what
this band means,
Recalling the fallen who've before. Who gave everything they had,
To honor the badges that they wore.*

By protecting the public from evil that lurks, In the dark recess of society's mind,

By being the last bastion of defense.

*By being the honored

Bay-Waveland School Board disagrees over 'retreat'

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

The Bay-Waveland School District Board of Trustees on Monday discussed the cost of an instructional administrator retreat.

Trustee Mark Kidd said the retreat sounded "a little expensive to be sending 15 people off to a retreat for $5,000."

He asked if retreats were something that the district had hosted before.

Superintendent Sandra Reed said that retreats have been done before.

Bay High School Principal Amy Coyne said that early on in her administrative experience, "we used to do it every year."

Trustee Ann Lathrop said she also had concerns and talked to Reed about it.

"Basically what it is, they're going to one place, under the same roof, so they're even cooking together is my understanding," Lathrop said. "They're doing everything together, they're bonding, it's a work retreat. She's listed an agenda of everything she wanted done. They're all under one roof trying to make this bond. That made me feel better."

Kidd said that "it is tax dollars."

Trustee Casey Favre said that if board members decided to attend a School Board Association, "that's easily $2,000 a person, by the time you include airfare, hotels, meals, and that sort of thing."

Favre added that on the budgeting side of things, "we're still to the good."

ner-dance at the corner of Beach Boulevard and Court Street.

Organized by the non-profit Mystic Krewe of the Seahorse, the event is packed with music, a pub crawl, scavenger hunt, kids activities and more to celebrate the Bay's pirate history, dating back more than 200 years. Pirate Day was recently named a Top Twenty Event by the Southeast Tourism Society, chosen from events taking place across 12 southern states.

The Pirate Day events began in earnest on Friday afternoon when the krewe "invaded" Old Town, leading into the Pirates Pub Crawl and Scavenger Hunt.

The action is scheduled to begin early on Saturday, with a Lil' Buccaneers Parade. Line up starts at 10:30 a.m. The parade will begin at 11 a.m. with children in their finest pirate drag and will head down Main Street to Pirate Central at Beach Boulevard. Immediately following will be the pirate costume contest, starting at 12 noon, where serious contenders of all ages show off to win pirate swag.

At 3 p.m. Saturday, the krewe will host its second annual "Pirate Cruise" on the Betsy Ann Riverboat. Boarding starts at 2:30 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis Harbor Event Deck.

The riverboat leaves at 3 p.m. and will return all pirates back to shore in time for the evening's festivities.

The Pirate Invasion parade is scheduled to begin at 5:30 p.m.

Saturday will also offer a pirates' play zone for kids, craft vendors and live entertainment from Dr. Rock & the Interns at 7 p.m. Pirate Day wraps up with fireworks over the harbor, sponsored by Silver Slipper Casino at 9 p.m.

Pirate Day is an annual fundraiser for the Mystic Krewe of the Seahorse, a volunteer organization that

Bay St. Louis ranks number five in list of 'Best Small Coastal Towns' in America

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

The results are in and the city of Bay St. Louis is now officially ranked one of the "10 Best Small Coastal Towns in America." Actually, it's in the top five.

As of Friday, the Bay officially claimed the number 5 spot in USA Today's annual competition, after a month of nationwide online voting.

"Bay St. Louis plays an extremely important role in tourism in Coastal Mississippi," Milton Segarra, CEO of Coastal Mississippi, said in a press release Friday. "The arts, sense of community, unique dining opportunities, local downtown shops, beautiful sprawling beaches, and stunning bay views all make for a highly desirable destination, which is reflected in the voters' decision to rank Bay St. Louis so high on this list of extraordinary coastal towns found across the States. This is a phenomenal opportunity to showcase everything that Bay St. Louis has to offer, which will in turn benefit all of Coastal Mississippi as a destination."

"For Bay St. Louis to be voted fifth Best Small Coastal Town amongst so many incredible beach destinations across the US is a real honor, and I am thrilled to see this wonderful, resilient Mississippi Gulf Coast town garner such widespread attention," Nikki Moon, owner of the Bay Town Inn, said in the release. "As a community, Bay St. Louis strives to create the perfect coastal atmosphere for visitors, locals, and those looking for the perfect place to relocate or retire. It looks like our efforts are paying off, as we gain momentum in terms of media exposure, accolades and visitation."

"There's only one word that always describes us and that's 'quaint,'" Bay Mayor Mike Favre said earlier this month after the contest was announced. "When you're looking for a word, that just gets it."

"It's the people here. Everybody opens their arms up to the visitors. We've got a fantastic following of people, they come and visit and they love it and they end up staying."

Sandusky, Ohio, was named number one on the list, due to its position on Lake Erie, followed by Rockport, Tex., Chincoteague, Va., Georgetown, S.C., and the Bay.

Bay St. Louis actually ranked higher on the list than number 6, Gulf Shores, Ala.; Southport, N.C.; St. Simons Island, Ga.; Saugatuck, Mich.; and Bayfield, Wisconsin.

Dr. William Bradford speaks on the history of the St. Clare Church

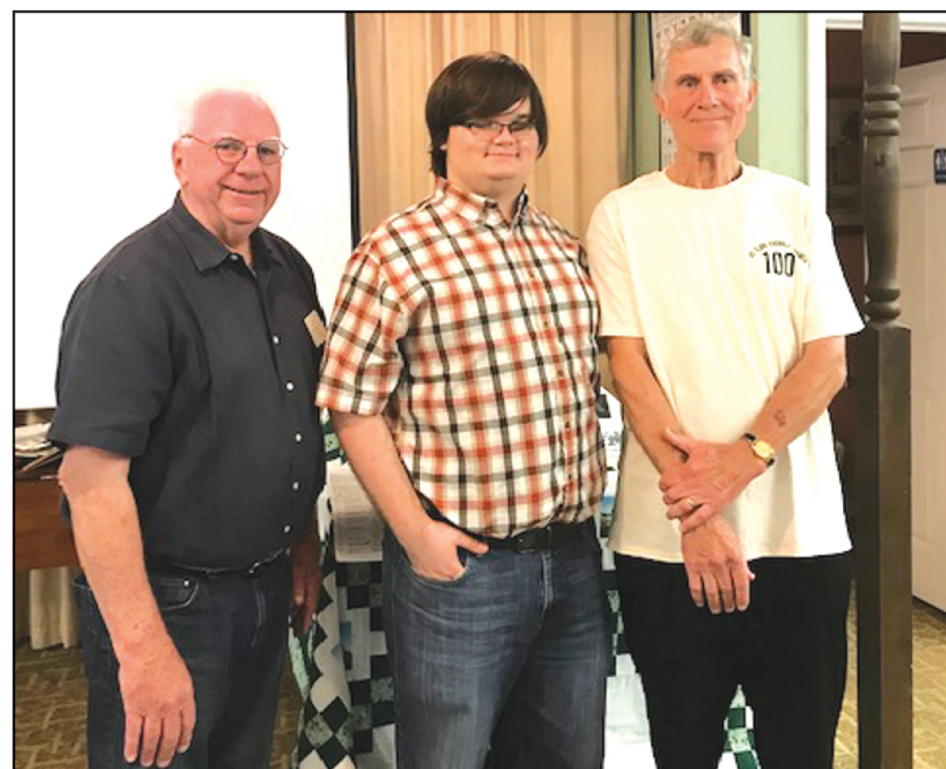

BY JAMES KEATING MD
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Dr. William Bradford was the featured guest speaker on Thursday at the Historical Society's monthly luncheon at the Kate Lobrano House. Dr. Bradford spoke about the history of the St. Clare Catholic Church in Waveland where he has worshiped since age six. Dr. Bradford is a retired emergency medicine specialist who has practiced forty one years. He graduated from the University of Mississippi in 1971 and completed a residency at the Louisville General Hospital. He practiced medicine at the Hancock Medical Center in Bay St. Louis.

In 1882 Waveland was a small resort village with a population of about 175 Catholics.

Nevertheless, Father LeDuc of Our Lady of the Gulf, with a donation of $1000 from Emile Carriere, then president of the Citizens Bank of New Orleans, commissioned Charles Sanger to build a little mission wooden church on Beach Boulevard at that time. By 1898 mass was celebrated weekly. Furthermore the town and the congregation grew and the church was enlarged to double its size by 1903 and again enlarged in 1938.

Waveland became a separate parish from Bay Saint Louis in 1919, rather than a mission. A beloved Irish priest, Rev. M.J. Costello, was appointed pastor and served until 1962. The grounds adjoining the church were purchased from the Jesuit Fathers and a rectory was constructed. The introduction of the automobile in this era with a subsequent increase of visitors to Waveland necessitated further enlargement of the church, because 90% of these souls were Catholic. Hence four missions were attached to St. Clare in Clermont Harbor, Lakeshore, Logtown, and Ansley.

The second Irish pastor of St. Clare was Father John O'Brien appointed in 1962.

O'Brien oversaw building of a new brick church, a parochial school, and a two story residence for the teaching Sisters, Dominican Nuns of the Congregation of St. Mary, New Orleans.

The St. Clare School opened up under the pastorate of another Irish priest, Father Kevin Bambrick and its founding principal, Sister Ruth Angelette, O.P. A kindergarten and the first five grades were organized. Thereafter a succeeding grade was added yearly until the school could offer pre-K to eighth grade. Enrollment surpassed 300 students.

Father Walter Maloney took over the church just a few months before Hurricane Camille in 1969. This disaster damaged the church and destroyed all the other buildings, but a recovery was accomplished in one year that rebuilt the entire plant except the rectory, bigger and better than previously. As a matter of fact the St. Clare Parish was serving over 2000 members by 1971.

St Clare continued to thrive for over three decades until Hurricane Katrina in 2005 again destroyed the church and the school. Father Martin Gillespie was pastor then. The school closed in 2006 but the congregation survived. Mass was celebrated for five years in a Quonset hut. The present church was built and dedicated in 2010. Rev. "Cuddy" O'Connor was pastor when the new church was rebuilt. Presently, Father Jacob Matthew Smith is pastor, a Franciscan monk and a retired US Marine. Today there are approximately 800 Catholics attending mass at the St. Clare Church during the summer with four masses on weekends (one on Saturday and three on Sunday).

Indeed, Waveland and the St. Clare Catholic Church continue to survive and flourish after 137 years on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Drawing a line in the sand against government overreach

With the statewide political campaigns gearing up, we are sure to hear often this year from candidates who say they want to stop government overreach from stifling small businesses, innovative startup companies, and job creation in Mississippi. This is a worthy goal. But some may wonder, exactly what does this kind of government overreach look like? Where do we draw the line between the proper role of government and unnecessary government interference?

To find the answer, we need only look to the travails of an innovative technology startup out of Madison named Vizaline. Two Mississippi businessmen put their experience and ideas together to offer something new. Brent Melton had worked in community banks for 42 years and knew they needed a way to understand the boundary lines of smaller properties they financed. For these smaller loans, surveys were neither required nor financially feasible. Scott Dow had spent two decades working with geospatial remote sensing and 3D computer modeling and he knew how to make this idea a reality.

Together, they created software that could take a properties' publicly available legal description – which is just cryptic words on paper generated by professionally licensed surveyors – and turn it into something anyone can understand: a drawing of the described property lines on a map.

Vizaline does not conduct surveys. It does not hold itself out as a professional surveyor. It simply takes information already generated by surveyors and puts it into a more user-friendly format. Vizaline only sells its services to small community banks who need and want a more cost-effective and user-friendly way to understand the properties they are financing. These are sophisticated customers. They know exactly what they are getting. And they want it. Nobody is getting duped.

Nevertheless, the government decided it needed to stop these transactions between a willing seller and willing, satisfied customers. The Mississippi Board of Licensure for Professional Engineers and Surveyors sued Vizaline. The government board claimed Vizaline was engaged in “unlicensed surveying.” It asked the court to shut down Vizaline, and to force them to hand over all the money they have ever earned.

Vizaline fought back. It obtained legal representation from the Institute for Justice and filed its own lawsuit, arguing that the government's actions were unconstitu-

Wicker Warns Against Looming Military Cuts

Our Nation's Security Requires Action

For the past two and a half years, my colleagues on the Senate Armed Services Committee and I have worked with President Trump to put our nation's military back on track. During the Obama presidency, budget sequestration went into effect. This policy mandated 10 percent across-the-board funding cuts, severely harming the Pentagon. Equipment was left unrepaired, recruitment and training programs were slashed, and procurement was stalled. Many Mississippi workers who build ships and aircraft lost their jobs.

President Trump's most recent budget request of $750 billion for defense spending will build on recent progress under his administration to undo this damage. It will make strides to repair our industrial base, increase readiness, and reverse our military's decline.

However, despite the spending deals of the last few years and President Trump's commitments, the sequestration law is still on the books. If nothing changes, automatic cuts will take effect in January of 2020, restarting the era of sequestration.

Congress and the president should change course by reaching a new budget deal. That would ideally include multi-year funding above the dangerously low caps set by sequestration. Our soldiers and suppliers need long-term certainty and the tools necessary to fulfill their missions.

CUTTING DEFENSE SPENDING IS PENNY WISE AND POUND FOOLISH

While it is important for the federal government to control spending, cuts should not be made on the backs our men and women in uniform. As former Defense Secretary James Mattis noted, “No enemy in the field has done more to harm the combat readiness of our military than sequestration.”

I asked Secretary of the Navy Richard Spencer what another sequester would mean. His response could not have been clearer. “This would just knock us flat down,” he said.

Other countries took note of our retreat from our responsibilities during the last sequester. Russia annexed Crimea, China continued its aggression in the South China Sea, and Iranian-backed militias in Yemen, Iraq, Syria, and Lebanon undermined America and Israel's interests in the Middle East. When the U.S. is unable to meet its commitments across the globe, our adversaries fill the vacuum.

President Reagan once observed, “Of the four wars in my lifetime, none came about because the U.S. was too strong.” In the long run, countering new challenges could cost more money and lives than maintaining military superiority over our competitors ever would. But, should deterrence fail, the American military needs to have the resources to

The bluegills are excellent fighters

The bluegill, or bream as it is most often called, is found in ponds, lakes and streams throughout Mississippi. Since bluegills are excellent fighters, they are exciting to catch.

The bluegill is a member of the sunfish family. There are 30 species of sunfish in North America and 17 of these species can be found in Mississippi. Sunfish are characterized by deep, laterally compressed bodies and spiny-rayed fins.

The bluegill commonly reaches a length of 9.5 inches and a weight of 12 ounces to a pound. The largest specimen recorded from Mississippi tipped the scales at a whopping 3.45 pounds. It was caught at a farm pond in Blue Mountain.

Bluegills have an olive-green back and sides with emerald and bronze highlights; breast and belly are yellow to reddish-orange.

Conservation Corner

by James L. Cummins

Wildlife Mississippi

Sides are often marked by six dusky vertical bars which are more prominent in young fish. The chin and lower part of the gill cover are blue and the ear flap is entirely black. These colors become much more intense and brilliant in breeding males.

Bluegills have requirements very similar to those of largemouth bass. It is likely that where one of these species is abundant the other will be present and abundant as well.

Bluegills often move around in schools of 20 to 30 fish. They are commonly found around underwater structure (logs, brush-piles). During midday, bluegills remain in deeper water and loaf about in the shade of structure. In the early morning hours, and again in evening, they move into the shallows to feed. Feeding is done primarily by sight. When mayflies and other aquatic insects are emerging, bluegill feed at the surface. Bluegill can be found feeding on snails, worms and crustaceans on or near the bottom. Small fish are also eaten by bluegill. Filamentous algae and other vegetation are readily eaten when animal food is scarce.

Bluegills begin nesting in early May and continue into September, with a peak spawning period in June. Almost any type of bottom can be used for nest building, but gravel is preferred. The nests are usually built in 1 to 2 feet of water and consist of round depressions. It is common to find many nests located close together in a small area.

Many females often spawn in the same nest and one female may also deposit her eggs in more than one nest. Males guard the nests until the eggs hatch. Once the fry leave the nest they are on their own.

Bluegills are almost universally used as an invaluable forage fish in ponds that are primarily managed for largemouth bass. These prolific fish serve well in this capacity especially when the predator/prey relationship is kept in balance.

GREGORY GAINES "PAMPS" KERGOSIEN

Gregory Gaines "Pamps" Kergosien, 91, of Bay St. Louis, MS passed away Wednesday, May 15, 2019 in Bay St. Louis, MS.

He was born in Bay St. Louis, MS on January 23, 1928. He was a graduate of St. Stanislaus in May, 1944 and the University of Mississippi in November 1949. In May 1945, at the age of 17, he volunteered for service in the Navy Hospital Corps and served for 19 months at the U.S. Navy Hospital, Oakland, CA as ward corpsman, oxygen technician and central supply technician.

Upon discharge he returned to Ole Miss in 1947 and completed his degree in 1949. Following graduation he was employed by the Upjohn Company as their pharmaceutical detail representative in middle-Tennessee. Subsequently, his assignments for Upjohn included territories in Tennessee, Louisiana and Florida. It was in Tennessee that he met and married his wife, Marian Whitaker.

Shortly after their marriage, he was called to active duty by the Army reserve, in which he had earned a commission while at Ole Miss. His active duty assignment was as a member of the Combat Training Command-The Infantry School, Fort Benning, GA. His personal assignment was as an officer in the Medical Company, 30th. Regimental Combat Team, which provided personnel for training and field demonstrations for the Advanced Officers Training Program. He served in that assignment for 19 months, and was discharged from active duty in December, 1952, as Commanding Officer, Medical Company, 30th RCT.

Upon reverting to civilian status he returned to his Upjohn assignment in Tennessee, then to Louisiana and to Florida. He became District Manager, Pharmaceutical Sales in Florida. Later, when assigned as Regional Marketing Manager, Non-prescription Products for the Southern Region., they moved to Dunwoody, GA, which was their primary home until their retirement. In 1968 he was assigned as Regional Manager, Government Affairs. In 1983 he was a recipient of the W.E. Upjohn Award, which was awarded annually in recognition of special accomplishment by employees worldwide. Soon after his retirement in 1985 he and Marian bought the Kergosien home in Bay St. Louis which had been owned by his grandfather, Dr. A.A. Kergosien in 1911. It has been occupied by Kergosien families since that date and is the house where Pamps was born. When Hurricane Katrina approached Bay St. Louis both Marian and Pamps decided that the house had survived every hurricane since before 1900, so with a stock of usual hurricane provisions they remained in the house. They survived with no life threatening occurrences; however a massive oak tree was blown over piercing the east roof for a length of over 50 feet. Although there was extensive wind damage to the east roof they, like many others, continued to occupy their home during the immediate recovery phase. During the years following retirement he and Marian were active members of the Hancock County Historical Society, assisting in the restoration of the Lobrano house. They were daily attendants at the Ruth Thompson Cakery Morning Coffee Bunch. They were members of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, including serving as a member of the Board of Governors. He was a member of American Legion Post 139 in Bay St. Louis, MS. They were members of St. Rose de Lima Church.

Pamps was preceded in death by his wife of 61 years, Marian Whitaker Kergosien; parents, Horace Kergosien and Mathilde Gaines Kergosien; brother, Phil Kergosien; two sisters, Helene Kergosien Vernon and Karen Kergosien Treutel; grandson, Charlie Fehr and 2 great granddaughters, Presley Christiansen and Elin Christiansen.

He is survived by his two daughters, Marian Elizabeth Labasky of Tallahassee, FL and Patricia Jane Fehr (Chuck) of St. Simons, GA; one son, Gregory G. Kergosien, Jr. (Paulette) of Gulfport, MS; sister, Peggy Kergosien Rowley (John) of St. Petersburg, FL; 7 grandchildren and 9 great-grandchildren and numerous nieces, nephews and cousins.

A Mass of Christian Burial will be held Saturday, May 25, 2019 at St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church at 11:00 a.m. with visitation for family and friends beginning at 10:00 a.m. Interment with Military Honors at St. Mary's Cemetery in Bay St. Louis, MS.

Hancock hosts 3-team jamboree to end spring football

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The Hancock Hawks hosted a three-team jamboree that featured Long Beach High School and Poplarville High School on Thursday night at Brett Favre Field in Kiln.

The jamboree was divided into equal segments for junior varsity and varsity action between the three squads. The game featured a running clock for 1/2 of a regulation football game complete with referees.

The jamboree had three classes represented with 6A Hancock, 5A Long Beach and 4A Poplarville who advanced to the Class 4A state championship game in 2018.

Each squad played each other in running clock settings for two quarters in both varsity and junior varsity action. The kicking game featured PAT attempts only in a non-rushed setting.

While no stats were recorded during the spring game, several Hancock players had solid games and were acknowledged by the coaching staff following the jamboree. Just for kicks, Hancock defeated Long Beach in varsity action 35-0 and stumbled against Poplarville 34-0.

On offense, Sebastian Fausett, Jordan Foushee, and Pierre Fowler handled the rushing duties while Kyle Shippey and Chris Bernard had a solid game at wide receiver. On defense, Colby McGough stepped up at linebacker and defensive linemen Da'Kyre Smith and Nathaniel Greenroad had solid games.

Hancock head coach Neil Lollar commented, "As far as the competition goes tonight, I thought we played hard. Long Beach and Poplarville both presented their fair share of challenges. Both were also different types of looks which will help our young team grow and develop when trying to recognize other teams and their strengths. While there is always room for improvement, I thought our execution was solid as we begin a summer full of conditioning, weight training and perfection of our execution on offense and defense."

Lollar commented on his running backs whom he lauded for their play in the game. They will replace departed 1,000-yard rusher senior Blake Comeaux.

Shippey stepped up and had a solid spring and appears to be a lightning bolt of energy to a wide receiver corps looking to replace Division I wide out Brooks Rayburn. On defense, McGough was recognized for having a solid spring and stepping in to follow departed tackling machine Trenton Ladner.

Lollar continued, "This spring was beneficial for us as we have seven or eight guys playing in new positions this year and we have an influx of young players on the squad. Our summer will be huge for this team. It will be added time to get more reps at these new positions and give these younger players more time to get used to step up in competition. We will get started in our summer program at the end of May."

The Hawks open their 2019 season against Pearl River Central on August 23rd with the possibility of a jamboree on August 16th. Until then, it will be a summer of waiting and watching for all the Hawks fans. See you at the game!

Hanna Noelle Dawley Named de Montluzin Scholarship Winner

SEA COAST ECHO

Our Lady Academy senior Hanna Noelle Dawley has been awarded the $3,000 Emily de Montluzin Foreign Language Scholarship for 2019. She becomes the thirty-fourth recipient of the scholarship, which is awarded annually by a board of directors to a superior foreign language student from any of the high schools in Hancock County.

Dawley will enter Tulane University, where she plans to major in International Relations with a minor in French.

She has been accepted into Tulane's Spring Scholar Program, through which she has been accorded the opportunity to spend her first semester as a freshman attending the American University of Paris.

Dawley, whose family background is one of extensive military service, has set herself the goal of becoming a United States Foreign Service officer specializing in work with Francophone nations.

"I truly learned how versatile the French language is with over twenty-five Francophone countries in the world," she writes, "and a majority of them suffer human rights issues from refugees, sex trafficking, women's rights, and post colonization rebuilding."

To a large degree her Foreign Service career choice was shaped, she says, by the transformative experience of serving as the translator/counselor for a group of Haitian children hosted last summer by Camp Stanislaus.

"None of them could speak even a word in English, not even hello or thank you. I realized how daunting it must be to arrive to America not understanding the language, without parents, and [with] only a minute suitcase containing their most necessary belongings."

Dawley became, in her words, their "French speaking ally." An avid sailor with the Pass Christian Yacht Club and the Saint Stanislaus College Varsity Sailing Team, she took the visiting Haitian children sailing for the first time and taught them how to fish.

In turn, she says, "I was taught about cultural customs and Haiti's economic despair and ongoing struggle to rebuild" in the wake of the country's catastrophic earthquake that left between 220,000 and 300,000 dead and some 1.6 million homeless. "My eyes were opened to my American blessings. After the amazing summer with the Haitian children, I knew French and cultural outreach was my passion."

Her French teacher, Jennifer Kayes, describes her as a true "global citizen."

Dawley has excelled in her four years of high-school French, and in her sophomore year she was a silver medalist in Le Grand Concours—the National French Contest, sponsored by the American Association of Teachers of French—achieving ranking as eighth in the state and the 90th percentile nationally.

Dawley is a member of the National Honor Society, the French honor society, the National Art Honor Society, the National Mathematics Society, and, for the past three years, Our Lady Academy's Quiz Bowl Team. The recipient of the Betty Bensabat Scholarship and the Sisters of Mercy Scholarship, she has in addition been an active tutor, volunteer, and ambassador for the Boys & Girls Club Qatar Center and is the first female counselor-in-training at Camp Stanislaus in the camp's 90-year history.

Dawley plans to take up her studies at the American University of Paris during the fall 2019 semester and begin classes at Tulane University in the spring of 2020.

Her parents are Michael and Charlotte Dawley of Pass Christian, MS.

Ladner continues family tradition on hardwood, signs with Loyola University

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

It is not too often that a father and a son enjoy playing athletics at the collegiate level. It is even more rare that the tradition expands to a third generation. However, that has happened in our area this year when Saint Stanislaus College senior Luke Ladner signed a National Letter of Intent to play basketball with the Wolf Pack of Loyola University of New Orleans on Wednesday, May 15th.

The younger Ladner's grandfather, Larry, was Hancock County's first ever All-State selection on the hardwood back in the mid-1950s at Kiln Consolidated High School before playing collegiately at PRCC and Louisiana College. He later went to a Hall of Fame coaching career at Picayune Memorial High School and then helped pioneer the nation's first Department of Coaching and Sports Administration degree program at the University of Southern Mississippi.

The eldest Ladner was followed by Luke's father, Jay, who starred in baseball and basketball at Oak Grove High School before playing collegiate basketball at USM and was a member of the 1987 NIT championship team. Jay went on to a distinguished high school coaching career at SSC where he racked up over 500 wins and the 2011 Class 4A state championship. Later, Jay coached Jones County Junior College to the 2014 national championship before taking his coaching talent to Southeastern Louisiana University in Hammond where he has been the last five years. At SELA, Ladner led the Lions to the 2018 regular season championship and a berth in the NIT. About three weeks ago, Jay Ladner was named the head coach at USM.

Now, the basketball stage belongs to Luke Ladner who has built himself into a star in his own right.

Luke Ladner commented, "I guess one could say I was born into the game of basketball. My family has a long history with the sport. I have been extremely blessed with the opportunity to continue to play the game that I love at the next level and to be able to carry on a family tradition. I wake up each day wanting to get better. I love the grind."

Ladner has excelled

both in school and on the court to get to this point. He is a class representative to the Student Council, chair of the Campus Ministry team, a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, two-year captain of the basketball team and a member of the National Honor Society.

On the court, the younger Ladner has been a two-time first team selection for All-Division 8-4A, a three-year letter winner, a two-time PRCC All-Star, two-time South All-Star, a member of the All-South Mississippi team in 2019, the 2019 KSA Orlando Tournament MVP, the Curtis St. Mary Award recipient as a junior and the Mr. Rock-a-chaw Award recipient as a senior. In 2019, Ladner averaged 13 points, four assists, six rebounds and two steals per game.

SSC head coach Aaron Dunklin, who prepped as SSC under Jay Ladner, stated, "I couldn't be prouder of a young man I've seen grow by leaps and bounds from a mental, physical and leadership standpoint. He has represented the school, his teammates and his family in an exemplary way. We will definitely be praying for his future success in his endeavors on and off the court."

Ladner's endeavors are not limited to just the classroom or basketball court. He even found time to volunteer at Habitat for Humanity, King's Kitchen, Humane Society, and the Boys and Girls Club.

And to reflect how selfless Ladner truly is, he turned 18 on March 6th and instead of gifts or tokens, he requested that donations be made to "No Kid Hungry." His selfless act resulted in donations exceeding $1,000 dollars.

Luke's father, USM head coach Jay Ladner, stated, "I could not be prouder of him. There is only a small percentage of student athletes that get an opportunity to continue playing at the next level. This is a reward for the hard work that he has put in both in the classroom and on the court. Over the course of the last few years, he has begun to put in the hard work necessary to put himself in a position to receive this opportunity. I am most proud of how he has been challenged and become successful at an outstanding school such as Saint Stanislaus College and the type of young man he has become. The school prides itself on developing 'Men of Character' and he has become one of them. I hate that he is leaving SSC but everyone has to move on in their journey. He has great memories to reflect on and he is ready for this next step."

Luke Ladner ended, "I am looking forward to beginning this next chapter. Playing at a school where my friends and family could see me play was not a major factor but it worked out in the end in that favor. My time at SSC has been both a blessing and a challenge. There was a lot that was expected of me at SSC and it was my choice to attend SSC. It is where I belong and what I call home. I was meant to be there and would not trade it for anything. I am most grateful to Coach Aaron Dunklin and Coach Grady Willis who came through the program before me. They have helped resurrect the program and I am thankful to be a part of that. I am thankful to my friends and family for all their support through the years. I am ready to get to work."

Ladner is expected to remain in the back court playing the point or shooting guard position for the Wolf Pack. He has qualified to play as a freshman with a 25 on the ACT.

Ladner becomes the sixth SSC player to sign with Loyola in the last 25 years following Matt Kopfler (SSC '97), former SSC head cross country and track and field coach Dawson McCall (SSC '00), Brett Amond (SSC '03), Mario Faranda (SSC '04), and Rocco Gandara (SSC '10).

Loyola is a member of Southern States Athletic Conference with Stillman College, William Carey University, Bethel University, Dalton State College, Faulkner University, Middle Georgia State University, Martin Methodist College, University of Mobile, Blue Mountain College, Florida College, and Brewton-Parker College.

The Wolf Pack won the SSAC title last season with a 23-12 record and advanced to the second round of the NAIA national tournament. They fell to Arizona Christian 83-77.

Hancock County's senior citizens turn out for annual health fair

STORY AND PHOTOS BY
CASSANDRA FAVRE

More than 165 of Hancock County's senior citizens on Wednesday attended the annual Senior Health and Information Fair in Bay St. Louis.

The event was sponsored by the SALT Council, the Hancock County Sheriff's Office, the Area Agency on Aging and the Hancock County Senior Center.

Senior Center Director Arlene Johnson said it was a "great turnout," and each year it's "going to get a little bit bigger."

"They had a great time, a great meal, and great fellowship," Johnson said. "It was a tremendous success and good information for our seniors. We also had great support from our vendors bringing the information to them."

SALT Council chairman Jim Thriffiley said the fair is one of many the organizations host throughout the year.

Other events include the senior prom, fish fries, and programs that help seniors understand their circumstances, Thriffiley said. The programs are made possible through grants obtained by the Hancock County Sheriff's Office.

"It was great," he said. "I was excited that so many people wanted to get health screenings. It also enhances their psychology and well-being by being around people and talking."

Thriffiley said the vendors were "very generous," and donated about 32 door prizes.

"It's good for health agencies to come out and give their time for our seniors," Johnson said.

Both Johnson and Thriffiley thank the city of Bay St. Louis for providing use of the Bay St. Louis Community Center.

"I'm real happy with the facility," Thriffiley said. "The community center is a show place to have anything."

Thriffiley also thanked

Johnson for cooking the seniors' meal.

Senior Eli Madrigal said that, in addition to obtaining information, he also saw many people that he "hadn't seen in years."

Salad Days Are Here Again

BY LINDA BIGLER
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

With the advent of late spring and early summer, the local farmers' markets and produce sections of your favorite grocery store offer a bounty of fresh vegetables and fruit. Here are a few suggestions for salads which use some of nature's finest creations. When using lettuce be sure to wash it well, even if it is the bagged kind that says it is pre-washed. Be sure to dry it in a lettuce spinner or in a clean kitchen towel. Doing this will make sure the dressing caresses each leaf.

BACON AND APPLE SALAD

One half pound bacon, crispy fried and crumbled

8 cups lettuce; red or green leafy, Romaine, field greens (your choice) washed and torn into bite sized pieces.

4 green onions, thinly sliced

2 carrots, shredded

3 firm red apples, cored, thinly sliced, and sprinkled with one tablespoon lemon juice

One half cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese

Combine all salad ingredients in a large bowl and toss. Serve with dressing on the side

Dressing:

Three fourths cup olive oil

One half cup red wine vinegar

1 tablespoon Dijon mustard

1 clove garlic, crushed

one teaspoon salt

one half teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

Combine all dressing ingredients in a jar, cover and shake well and serve with salad.

Serves 8

WHERE'S THE BEEF TACO SALAD

1 head lettuce, washed and torn into bite sized pieces

2 cups cherry tomatoes, halved

One can black olives, sliced (optional)

4 green onions, thinly sliced

2 cups, 8 ounces, shredded pepper Jack cheese

1 or 2 avocados, peeled, sliced, and sprinkled with lemon juice

2 pickled jalapeno peppers, thinly sliced (optional)

2 cups crushed corn chips

One cup salsa

One cup sour cream

Just before serving, combine all ingredients except salsa and sour cream. Toss and serve salsa and sour cream on the side.

Serves 6 to 8

GRAPEFRUIT AND AVOCADO SALAD

3 oranges

1 large pink grapefruit

2 small, ripe avocados

2 firm apples

Peel oranges, grapefruit, and avocados. Core the apples, but do not peel.

Cut the fruit into bite-size pieces. Place in a bowl, pour the dressing over the fruit, toss, cover, and chill.

Dressing:

One half cup olive oil

One fourth cup vinegar

1 clove garlic, crushed

one half teaspoon salt

one fourth teaspoon black pepper

Combine all dressing ingredients in a jar, cover, and shake well.

When ready to serve, drain and serve in lettuce lined bowls.

Serves 6

GREEN BEAN SALAD

2 pounds fresh green beans

2 quarts rapidly boiling salted (one tablespoon) water

One medium onion, peeled and sliced into rings

One half cup olive oil

One fourth cup red wine vinegar

1 tablespoon Dijon mustard

1 teaspoon crushed red pepper flakes

2 teaspoons honey

1 teaspoon dill weed, fresh or dried

1 clove garlic, crushed

Wash the beans, trim, tail, and remove the strings.

Add the beans to the rapidly boiling salted water.

Return to a boil and boil 5 minutes or until beans turn a bright green. Remove from heat, drain and rinse with cold water. In a large bowl, combine beans and onion slices. Combine remaining ingredients in a small bowl and whisk well.

Pour the mixture over the beans and onions; toss to coat, cover, and chill several hours or overnight.

Serves 6 to 8

Even if you choose to skip the salad, get out and enjoy the weather before it gets too hot to handle.

Give CBD to Pets? Jury Is Still Out

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: What is your take on using CBD oil on cats or dogs? A friend told me that giving it as a supplement could ease my dog's separation anxiety. — Gary F., Tallahassee, Florida

DEAR GARY: While there is no solid scientific proof indicating that CBD (cannabinoid), a nonintoxicating part of the marijuana plant, has an effect on pets, you can find quite a bit of anecdotal evidence from pet owners. Most are very confident that the supplement helps calm their dog or cat.

I've spoken with a few pet owners who have had positive experiences supplementing their pet's diet with CBD, which can be obtained legally over the counter in several states. For example, a friend was struggling with anxiety-induced aggression in one of her dogs — during thunderstorms, he would begin snarling and snapping at her other male dog. Daily supplementation with CBD oil has reduced the aggression, she says.

Now, CBD oil isn't a cure-all to treat every health or behavioral issue affecting a pet. It can help with anxiety. Its effects seem to be very subtle, on par with Bach's Rescue Remedy, a daily homeopathic supplement. But it's not a substitute for behavioral training and regular outdoor exercise — both of which can have a profound effect on a dog's behavior.

CBD supplements like oil or chews can be given daily at feeding time. Be sure to follow the dosage instructions on the package. The key seems to be making the supplements a daily routine, and increasing the dose may not work. But for owners trying to improve their dog's well-being, it may be a supplement worth trying.

Cap is an affable, goofy, sweet as pie, four-year-old Hound dog, who is most definitely a country boy. He is quite content to hang out with his many doggie pals at the shelter, romp around our play yard, and follow our kennel techs around as they clean. He will pick up toys and carry them around, and then "zoom-zoom" around the courtyard, amusing himself. Cap is likely not house or crate trained, but he walks fairly well on a leash and harness. He truly loves people, and he is quite gentle with children. While he is happy here at the shelter, he deserves to have a home and family of his own. He would do best in a home with a (privacy) fenced yard or with lots of acreage to explore. This agile boy can climb a 4 ft chain link fenced with ease. Cap would love to join active kiddos in their outdoor adventures, so please consider adding him to your family. He will make a wonderful companion. Stop by the shelter, 7175 Texas Flat Rd, Kiln, for a visit. Cap will surely win your heart. Call 466 4516 for more information, and visit our Facebook page, Hancock County Animal Shelter, MS, so see more pictures of Cap and of the many other wonderful, adoptable animals looking for their forever homes.

Each numbered row contains two clues and two 6-letter answers. The two answers differ from each other by only one letter, which has already been inserted. For example, if you exchange the A from MASTER for an I, you get MISTER. Do not change the order of the letters.

A VIEW OF GOD'S NATURAL BEAUTY

BY GARY ANDREWS

GARY@GADEVOTIONALS.COM

Not long ago my wife and I, along with three other couples, made a trip out west to visit the Grand Canyon. It had been many years since I had seen the canyon and this was the first trip for my wife and some of the others. It is a breathtaking experience to view this wonder of the world. How anyone could see the beauty and magnificence of this landmark and contradict the existence of the Lord is beyond my understanding.

Even though the guide we had tried to explain how this extraordinary and magnificent piece of art came to being, he finally had to admit that this was the work of the Lord even though he gave scientific reasons of why and how the canyon was created through erosion. He told us it started as a flat piece of land and over the last 500,000 plus years how the wind and water made this giant hole in the earth.

He told of the different layers of rock and gave us reasons why and how the evolution of science brought this site into being and what it will look like again in several thousands of years.

He also predicted that our future generations will not see what we are seeing today because of the natural erosion of the earth. As he spoke to us I had to wonder how our life is comparable to the Grand Canyon. How do we allow something made by God to be corrupted and eroded from a miracle that only God can make?

Why have we allowed ourselves to get away from God's Word and Creation to find our own resolutions of what happened and when? I firmly believe that God creates no mistakes. I also firmly believe that we, as God's people, allow Satan to attack us and give in to his temptations.

Satan's reasoning for doing things his way erode our lives to the point that we question God, His creation and judgment. Satan provides beautiful pictures of what is around us and how we can flourish if we follow him and it seems that most of the world has given into his reasoning not thinking of the consequences in the end.

If we continue to allow Satan to use us for his purposes and we continually say that God had no part in His creation, then we are doomed for the gates of Hades with no possibility of redemption. Sin erodes our lives and takes us deeper and deeper into sin until we either succumb to the pressures of the earth and mankind or we turn our lives over to Jesus with the promise of an eternal home.

The Grand Canyon is a natural beauty created by a loving God for all of His people to enjoy. Yes it was created through erosion and will possibly disappear one day but it will be through God's plan and in His time.

Man, as we know him today, will have nothing to do with how long this massive site will be around and can try to explain how science created and will dissolve this natural creation. It is the same with our soul. Satan will erode your spirit and knowledge of the Lord Jesus as long as you let him.

When we take our eyes off of Jesus and let Satan have his way then we are going to struggle with temptation and give in to worldly views. Don't let Satan control your life. Ask Jesus to come into your life and guide you through time and create the being that He will be satisfied with.

Prayer: Thank you Lord for the natural wonders and beauty of this earth that you created and gave to us for enjoyment. I pray that others will realize that you are in control and not man. Lead me and guide me to do your work and be your witness. Amen.

NOTICE THAT THE HANCOCK COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS WILL CONDUCT A HEARING PURSUANT TO MISS. CODE SECTION 19-5-105
RE: 5055 Cardinal Road, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, pursuant to Mississippi Code Section 19-5-105, will hold a public hearing concerning 5055 Cardinal Road, Bay Saint Louis, Mississippi 39520, to determine whether that property is in such a state of uncleanliness as to be a menace to the public health, safety and welfare of the community. The hearing will be conducted on June 3, 2019, beginning at 1:30 p.m. at the Supervisors' Boardroom located at 854 Highway 90, Bay Saint Louis, Mississippi 39520 to determine whether the described property constitutes a menace to the public health and safety of the community. All owners of the property or other interested persons are hereby notified of the hearing and of their right to attend and present any and all such evidence they desire or deem appropriate concerning this matter. The County informs the owner that an adjudication at the hearing that the property or parcel of land is in need of cleaning will authorize the board of supervisors to reenter the property or parcel of land for a period of one (1) year after the hearing without any further hearing, if notice is posted on the property or parcel of land and at the county courthouse or another place in the county where such notices are generally posted at least seven (7) days before the property or parcel of land is reentered for cleaning. A copy of the required notice mailed and posted as required by this section shall be recorded in the minutes of the board of supervisors in conjunction with the hearing required by this section.

If at such hearing the board of supervisors shall in its resolution adjudicate such parcel of land in its then condition to be a menace to the public health and safety of the community, the board of supervisors may, if the owner not do so himself, proceed to have the land cleaned by cutting weeds, filling cisterns, and removing rubbish, dilapidated fences, outside toilets, dilapidated buildings and other debris, and draining cesspools and standing water. Thereafter, the board of supervisors may at its next regular meeting by resolution adjudicate the actual cost of cleaning the land and may also impose a penalty not to exceed One Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($1,500.00) or fifty percent (50%) of the actual cost, whichever is more. The cost and any penalty shall become an assessment against the property. The "cost assessed against the property" means either the cost to the county of using its own employees to do the work or the cost to the county of any contract executed by the county to have the work done, and administrative costs and legal costs of the county.

The County—in the instance it makes a finding that the property is a menace—may reenter the property or parcel of land to maintain cleanliness without further notice of hearing no more than six (6) times in any twelve-month period with respect to removing dilapidated buildings, dilapidated fences and outside toilets, and no more than twelve (12) times in any twenty-four-month period with respect to cutting grass and weeds and removing rubbish, personal property and other debris on the land. The expense of cleaning the property shall not exceed an aggregate amount of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00) per year, or the fair market value of the property subsequent to cleaning, whichever is less. Supervisors may, if the property is deemed a menace, enter the property up to those number of times and that frequently, and incur up to those costs. The board of supervisors may assess the same penalty each time the property or land is cleaned as otherwise provided in this section. Any assessment authorized by Mississippi Code Section 19-5-105 shall be a lien against the property and may be enrolled in the office of the circuit clerk of the county as other judgments are enrolled, and the tax collector of the county shall, upon order of the board of supervisors, proceed to sell the land to satisfy the lien as now provided by law for the sale of lands for delinquent taxes. Furthermore, the property owner whose land has been sold pursuant to this section shall have the same right of redemption as now provided by law for the sale of lands for delinquent taxes. All decisions rendered under the provisions of this section may be appealed in the same manner as other appeals from county boards. Hearing set by order of the Board of Supervisors of May 6, 2019.

MSU EXTENSION SERVICE

Mississippi Gov. Phil Bryant named May 14, 2019, a day to recognize 50 years of successful programing by the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program, or EFNEP.

The proclamation honors EFNEP graduates, volunteers and Extension Service educators and agents in Mississippi who have worked tirelessly to enhance quality of life for the clients they serve. EFNEP is a grassroots initiative of the Mississippi State University Extension Service working with cooperating county, state and federal partners. The program benefits limited-resource families and young people.

The governor's proclamation honors EFNEP for teaching parents, caregivers and young people the essentials of nutrition, food safety, food preparation, physical activity and food resource management.

Twenty-two EFNEP educators located in 19 Mississippi counties provide tailored classes to meet the specific needs of program participants. Participants learn to prepare healthy food, plan meals, stretch food dollars and increase physical activity.

EFNEP helps families acquire the knowledge, skills and attitudes necessary to change behaviors and improve lives. Taught by peer educators, a series of classes aims to increase the number of healthy children, young people and families. Peer educators also cultivate a sense of personal success, which motivates participants to finish high school, pursue a GED or training program and find employment.

Proper sleep impacts mental, physical health

EVELYN DAWN PHILLIPS
MSU EXTENSION SERVICE

A good night's sleep is important for everyone, but the true benefits of a restful night for people's minds and health is sometimes misunderstood and underappreciated.

Alisha Hardman, family life specialist with the Mississippi State University Extension Service and assistant professor in the MSU School of Human Sciences, said good sleep practices are more important than people think. The National Sleep Foundation defines appropriate sleep hygiene as "practices and habits that are necessary to have good nighttime sleep quality and full daytime alertness."

"One of the most important sleep hygiene practices is to spend an appropriate amount of time asleep in bed," Hardman said. "Young adults from 18-25 years old need between seven and nine hours of sleep each night. Individuals should determine what the optimal amount of sleep is for them, as getting too little or too much sleep is problematic."

Hardman said people should limit daytime naps to no longer than 30 minutes. They should also avoid fatty meals, spicy dishes, citrus fruits, heavy or rich foods, and carbonated, caffeinated drinks close to bedtime. The sleep environment should be conducive to sleep, including a cool, dark room.

"Exercise promotes good quality sleep," Hardman said. "But avoid vigorous workouts close to bedtime because they can produce unneeded energy that may keep a person awake longer at night."

Signs of poor sleep hygiene may include frequent sleep disturbances, daytime sleepiness and taking a long time to fall asleep. Studies have linked poor sleep to depression, obesity, heart disease and type 2 diabetes.

Hardman has conducted educational research and outreach work on the influence of technology on family life. She said technology can influence the quality of a person's sleep in important ways.

"A contemporary culprit that may contribute to sleep problems is the use of artificial lighting and particularly the use of electronics at night," Hardman said.

"Blue light, such as the light emitted from the screens of our TVs, phones or computers, can interfere with our circadian rhythm. When we are in darkness, our bodies secrete the hormone melatonin, which signals the body to get tired and fall asleep."

Research has demonstrated that exposure to blue light emitted from electronics in the evening disrupts the brain's natural sleep-wake cycle. Blue light tricks the brain into thinking it is daytime, which may reduce the quantity and quality of sleep.

In addition to good sleeping habits, it is also important to know how much sleep a person should get at each stage in life. Lori Staton, Extension sleep specialist and associate professor in the MSU School of Human Sciences, said that infants need a considerable amount of sleep during the day because they are growing and developing at a rapid pace.

"Newborns are learning to consolidate their sleep, so initially their sleep is throughout the day and may be in small increments," Staton said. "As we grow, our sleep becomes more consolidated in the night, with many children not participating in napping by the age of 5 years."

The National Sleep Foundation indicates that children need more sleep than adolescents and adults. School-aged children require anywhere from 9-11 hours for optimal development. From adolescence onwards, people need 7-9 hours of sleep each night.

Insomnia is the most common sleep-related complaint among adults. Many environmental and individual factors might lead to insomnia, including stress, pain, mood problems or poor sleep habits.

Staton recommended having a relaxing bedtime routine, avoiding stimulants like caffeine and keeping a regular sleep-wake schedule to combat insomnia.
